City Wins Canadian Basketball Title

Fast Victorians Sweep Through to Deciding Victory

Take Third Game in Row From Windsor Alumni 41 to 36 in Fine Display

Spectators Set Attendance Mark

Over 2,000 See Blue Ribbons Triumph While Hundreds Are Turned Away

The Montreal Cup, handsome trophy emblematic of the Dominion's highest basketball laurels, for the first time in history is in Victoria for a twelve-months' stay to-day, brought to the city by the spectacular play of the rangy Blue Ribbons, who yesterday evening ran out of the national series with their third straight victory, defeating Windsor-Walkerville, eastern champions, 41 to 36, before a tense crowd of 2,000 spectators, who set up a new attendance record for basketball here. Hundreds were turned away from the Willows stadium.

The local squad played inspired ball throughout the encounter, leading virtually all the way and staving off the Alumni's desperate late rally. After dropping the opening game to Windsor 40 to 34, the Victorians came back on Monday evening to tie up the series with a sensational 38 to 32 victory and drove the crowd frantic Wednesday night when they won 39 to 35 in an overtime tussle. The result yesterday evening brought them out of the series on top.

To-night the two teams will meet again in an exhibition game in Vancouver for the benefit of the mainland followers who were unable to come across the straits for the series. The Ribbons' phenomenal speed, stamina and size, combined with their accurate passing and sensational shooting, were deciding features in their victory, as they ran away from the easterners in the last clash.

Windsor, after a brilliant display in Saturday's opener, faded during the series. Yesterday they seemed disorganized, trying to meet the Ribbons at their own style of play. It was a fatal error, the Alumni boys' physical abilities being far better than those of the Victorians. But the easterners, despite increasing fumbles, went down with a gallant fight.

M. PATRICK LEADS ATTACK

Led by Muzz Patrick, who ran in the first seven points while the Alumni scored one on a free shot, the Capital City team established an early lead. Windsor raced through to within a basket of Victoria before the locals drew ahead again.

Trailing 30 to 17 early in the second half, the victors made another fight.

CAGE CAPERS

By "STARDUSTER"

Not since the last shot was fired in the Great War has there been more welcomed gun-fire than that which occurred at the Willows Exhibition Building yesterday evening at 10.15 o'clock. Red Martin, official timekeeper, performed the last official act in the Dominion basketball championship by firing two blanks from his revolver, which signified the end of the game.

And what a relief! After galloping away from the wire as if they intended to show Windsor what they really could do, Blue Ribbons faltered in their scoring when the visitors began sinking their long shots and crawled up to within five points of Victoria. It was extremely uncomfortable for fans, who by this time had voices on them that resembled pip-squeaks and nerves that were frayed like some of the overcoats that were worn last winter.

It will be some days before we get back to normal again. Not since 1925 when Lester Patrick led his Cougars against the Montreal Canadiens in the world's hockey series has there been so much intense enthusiasm and nerve-shattering excitement than what we have seen in the three games this week. Wednesday's battle when Ribbons came from behind to win in overtime takes the banana for the most thrilling of the series but yesterday evening's picnic was almost as lively.

Lots of the fans have been making comparisons between hockey and basketball. For sustained action clever passing, keen shooting and playing for openings basketball takes the palm. There is little stalling; the players are forever racing, twisting, turning, stopping, passing and shooting. In hockey there are more thrills from the bodily contact, when defence players spill forwards, goalies spreadeagle themselves or dive to make a save, three-men rushes in on the net and so on, but there are heaps of dull moments, stalling and overdone defensive tactics. And another thing the fans sit right in on top of a basketball game.

"The best team won," the Windsor players said as they worked their way into the Ribbons' dressing-room and congratulated the local boys. Windsor may not have been the best team but they were good sportsmen, polished players, clean, full of fight and good plays and pushed the Ribbons all the way. The thanks of Victoria go to Gordon Fuller, manager of Windsor, for bringing his club all the way from the border cities to give Victorians such thrills that they have not experienced for nearly ten years. Our sincere hope is that it will not be another ten years before we get another chance to become so excited.

It may not seem right to single out a hero for the series. Chuck Chapman, looking as a logical choice for the honor role in view of his great defensive work and the converting of a free shot in the last eight seconds of play.

Railway Bill Up For Third Reading as Session's End in Sight

Redistribution Bill and Trade Treaties Also Scheduled For Action

Ottawa, May 5.—The railway bill, one of the biggest chores of the present session, is almost completed. Yesterday evening the Commons in committee of the whole placed its approval on the last of its sections and it now stands for third reading. The bill provides for a new set-up for the Canadian National Railways, as well as co-operation between the C.N.R. and C.P.R. Two other pieces of business to be dealt with before prorogation are trade treaties. The new trade treaty with France is almost ready for submission and the Commons will be asked to ratify it in a few days. The government will also ask Parliament to give its power to extend the pact with New Zealand, which is set to expire May 24.

REDISTRIBUTION BILL

Next week's drive toward prorogation also will have before it the redistribution bill and the redrafted bill amending the Shipping Act, now before the Senate.

Morning sittings of the Commons will be started next Tuesday. The redistribution bill itself is the key to the length of the session. Negotiations looking to an agreement on the boundaries of constituencies in the redistribution bill were reported under way this morning. If the sub-committee working on the alignment in each province can agree the bill is expected to be quickly enacted.

Liberals said that as presented in its original form it smattered of gerrymandering, particularly in Saskatchewan and Quebec.

Letter to Associations Overrules Executive and Calls For Candidates

H. D. Twigg, Organizer For Conservatives, Outlines His Party's Plan For Election

Proposed formation of what will be known as the "Government Conservative Union Party" is the latest development in the tangled affairs of the Conservative Party of British Columbia to add to the confusion and mystification which members of the party find themselves in as the provincial general election campaign approaches.

This is Premier Tolmie's latest move since he launched his first unsuccessful bid for a union of the major parties in British Columbia. As a Tolmie government plan it is officially conveyed to Conservative associations throughout the province in a letter over the signature of the party organizer, H. D. Twigg, M.P.P.

GOVERNMENT SUPPORT

It is indicated by the text of the letter that Mr. Twigg writes on behalf of Premier Tolmie and his government. It has been decided that as far as possible a candidate who will give his support to the government Conservative Union Party will be placed in each constituency and such candidate will be recognized and given the support of the government. "With a union object in view we invite the support of all citizens of this province who are desirous of placing the welfare of British Columbia ahead of party. Conventions should be called as soon as possible and candidates nominated. The usual publicity matter will be issued from time to time." (Turn to Page 3, Col. 3)

PARENT-TEACHERS OUTLINE POLICIES

Vancouver, May 5.—The executive committee of the Vancouver Parent-Teacher Federation will meet Saturday to give final approval to the campaign policies of the federation, adopted at the Eastern convention in Vancouver.

The members of the executive emphasize the point the federation is not in any sense going into politics, and has no desire to influence its members to support any particular candidate of party. But members of the federation throughout the province have been taking a keen interest in public questions, particularly in ques-

SOVIET-JAPAN CONFERENCE

Russians Invited to Tokyo to Discuss Manchurian Railway Issue

Canadian Press and Associated Press
Tokyo, May 5.—A conference in Tokyo, attended by delegates representing Japan, Soviet Russia and Manchukuo, to seek a solution of outstanding differences arising from Russia's interests in Manchuria, has been proposed by Japan. It was authoritatively disclosed to-day.

Tokyo, May 5.—Significant proposals have been advanced by the Russian government in its dispute with Manchukuo authorities over the Chinese Eastern Railway, according to a Foreign Office spokesman to-day, and the situation is "considerably clarified." Japan was urged by the Russians to negotiate directly with Russia about the line and to abandon "the transparent fiction" of Manchukuo's responsibility in the joint management of the road. It was learned.

Edmonton, May 5.—Lillian Hurray, eighteen, stabbed over the heart by her father, Thomas Hurray, who later committed suicide after inflicting fatal knife wounds on his wife, was reported progressing favorably at a hospital here to-day. Her recovery was expected.

Hurray attacked his wife and daughter in their home in the Phillips district, near Viking, Alta., last Sunday. Mrs. Hurray died in a short time from knife wounds and her husband later killed himself.

It repeals the exemption heretofore accorded to war pensions. It does not apply to 1932 incomes.

PEDEN RETURNS TO BIKE RACE

Rushed to Hospital After Crash in Toronto, Giant Red-head Back in Grind

Broken Ribs Are Taped Up; Says He Still Hopes to Win

After an examination by doctors, Bill "Torchy" Peden, Victoria's giant red-headed star of six-day bicycle races, wired his father, Wm. Peden Sr., that, although he was badly shaken up, he felt well enough to return to the Toronto race from which he was rushed to the hospital after a crash to-day. "Torchy" said in his wire he still expected to win the race.

Canadian Press

Toronto, May 5.—Two hours after he had crashed in a spectacular smash-up during the six-day bicycle race here, Iron Man Torchy Peden of Victoria returned to the race. Strapped with adhesive tape and bandaged over his injured ribs, the big red-head received an ovation as he returned from the hospital.

It was believed for a time several of Torchy's ribs had been broken when he crashed from the extreme top of the wooden bowl and landed heavily in a tangle of twisted bicycle in the "grind." He was rushed to hospital, where X-rays were taken, but the plates have not yet been developed.

Meanwhile, Torchy and his blonde little partner, Jules Audy of Montreal, are circling the bowl again just one lap behind the leaders, Reg. Fielding and Harry Horan.

It was one of the worst spills of the six-day bicycle race here when Peden crashed. Peden, who with his partner, Jules Audy, was in third position in the grind, struck the railing at the top of the bowl during the noon-hour sprints. His 225 pounds landed solidly on the twenty-five-pound racing bike as it rolled down the wall.

FLOOD PERIL IN MARITIMES

Swollen Rivers Near Saint John and Edmundston, N.B., Rouse Fears

Canadian Press
St. John, May 5.—Swollen rivers near St. John and Edmundston, N.B., roused fears of serious inundations to-day while receding water levels and stoppage of a three-day rain brought relief to flood-threatened districts of Quebec.

The St. John River rose rapidly more than seven feet in two days at some points—causing abandonment of numerous riverbank homes at Fort Kent, Me., flooding main street cellars and damaging business districts. Heavy rains and melting snow sent the river above normal spring levels.

Similar conditions prevailed at Woodstock and Edmundston.

Equality of Arms Raised By Germany

Canadian Press and Associated Press
Geneva, Switzerland, May 5.—Germany officially raised the question of her right to equality in armaments, both in the air and under the sea, at the World Disarmament Conference here to-day.

The German delegate introduced amendments to the British disarmament plan which would require a commitment to serving notice that unless military and naval planes and submarines are abolished, the German government will want air fleets and submarine fleets.

These amendments, which caused something of a sensation, created the impression at the conference that Germany expects to participate in the conference of the big naval powers slated for 1935.

Both military planes and submarines are forbidden to Germany by the Treaty of Versailles.

The Berlin Government promises until the end of 1935 not to build more surface ships than are allocated to Germany but some observers said it left the door open as to what it would do subsequently.

The German position was set forth in a document in which it was asserted the British disarmament convention failed to propose reduction in the fleets of other powers, but Germany hoped by 1935 the highly armed naval powers would proceed to substantial reduction.

Optimistic Duck Tries to Gobble Hardware Minnow

Anglers of Brentwood have another true fishing story. Hugh Creed went trolling for salmon and his lure went into the water.

Creed, who is only interested in "the big ones," shrugged his shoulders in disgust as he felt a minor tug on his line. He was fishing for a foreign minnow. It did not feel like a grise and it did not feel exactly like a salmon.

Reeling in, he was surprised to find a diver rise from the water with a hook down its throat. The bird rose in the air, whirled around in distress like a kite without a tail and then died.

Finally the experienced angler brought in his quarry and was able to liberate it. The diver is now swimming around Brentwood, glad to be old and bromide. "All that gills is not fish,"

Canada-U.S. Free Trade In Horses Is Proposal Now Made

EQUALIZATION FUND SWELLED

British Exchange Account to be Increased From £150,000,000 to £350,000,000

London, May 5.—Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, moving a resolution in the Commons yesterday to increase the exchange equalization account from £150,000,000 to £350,000,000, declared the proposed increase had "nothing whatever to do with the circumstances that America has gone off gold."

At yesterday evening's sitting of the House the resolution was approved without a recorded vote. "I am sorry to see, in spite of my emphatic statement in my budget speech," the Chancellor said, "that some American journals have represented this addition to the exchange equalization account as being in some way directed against that country."

"I do not know whether what I said on that subject was transmitted across the Atlantic together with the statement of the intention itself. If not, I regard it as extremely unfortunate that partial and mutilated accounts of important statements of this kind should be subject of misunderstanding between two great and friendly nations."

This comment evoked cheers from the House. "Whether my fortune will be better on this occasion than on the last one I do not know," Mr. Chamberlain continued. "Whatever happens over there, I feel sure I can convince the House of Commons of the literal truth of that statement, because in fact the purpose for which this addition was required is not one which can be used for the purpose with which I am being charged by certain American journals, namely, of forcing down the value of the pound relative to the dollar."

"The real fact is that the purpose of the fund is not directed to any permanent alteration in the exchange value of the pound."

Mr. Chamberlain said it was not the intention of the government to use the equalization account to try to alter the permanent level of exchange either up or down.

He explained there were seasonal fluctuations of the pound—strong in the spring and weak in the autumn—and if these fluctuations were left to themselves there would be a see-saw in the value of the pound which would be unbalancing to trade in Britain.

If that was all the government had to deal with, he continued, then £150,000,000 would be sufficient, but the government was faced with a new phenomenon of unexpected character—namely, a flight of refugee capital to London.

People had sent their money here because they were alarmed at conditions in their own countries, he said, but when confidence was restored it was likely that capital would return home.

He explained it was because of this new phenomenon that he had decided to ask for an increase in the equalization fund.

After hearing Judge Bradley's story, the court judiciary divided into four units and continued hearing evidence from witnesses of the riot on Thursday of last week at the O'Brien County Court House.

A declaration that citizens had been treated unjustly by the military force since the riot came from State Representative Gustav Alesch of Plymouth County, before he went before the military inquirers.

"While not condoning the attack," he said, "some demonstration was needed to bring to the attention of Washington and the nation the deplorable plight of the farmers."

"A great number of innocent persons have been taken in the wholesale arrests. Some of them may have been in the mob, but took no part in the riot."

Gandhi may be released. Simla, India, May 5.—It was understood here to-day that Mahatma Gandhi is likely to be released from the Yeroda jail on the second day of his projected three weeks' fast in protest against "untouchability." He recently announced the fast would be started Monday.

Suggestions Will be Offered by Dominion Delegates When Trade Treaty Being Negotiated

Ottawa, May 4.—Question of free trade in horses between Canada and the United States is said to be one of the important proposals Canada will make when the trade agreement between the two countries is under consideration. The situation as to farm horses in Canada is unusually interesting.

There has been a decided swing from tractor to horse-drawn power in the prairie provinces and a recent sale in the west brought $70 to $100 a head—almost double the price of a year ago. The duty on Canadian horses going into the United States is $20 a head and from the United States into Canada $25. There is a shortage of suitable horses, strange to say, in both countries and if free trade were brought into effect the advantages would be about equally divided.

With the low price of feed and the scarcity of money among the farmers with which to buy gasoline or repair their tractors, demand for farm horses is reported exceedingly good.

JAPANESE-RUSSIAN BORDER INCIDENT

Tokyo, May 4.—A new phase of Russo-Japanese friction came to light today in a conference at the Foreign Office between Constantin Yourenoff, Soviet Ambassador, and Hachiro Arita, Vice-Minister of Foreign Affairs, concerning an alleged Japanese invasion of Soviet territory.

Yourenoff charged Japanese troops pursuing Manchukuo insurgents last February had crossed the border north of Pogranichnaya, but stated they had returned immediately to Manchukuo territory without clashing with Soviet guards.

It was disclosed that a Soviet protest immediately following the event evoked a Japanese denial of the allegations.

Yourenoff's fresh representations were declared to be based on a thorough reinvestigation of the incident by the Soviet Government, which asked punishment of the Japanese commander responsible and assurances against a repetition.

It was understood Arita stood firm on the previous denial.

"HOTEL DE GINK" IS CLOSED DOWN

Spokane, Wash., May 5.—Ejected from the "Hotel de Gink" because they had refused to work for the food and shelter given to them since last fall, more than 800 unemployed men looked food to-day after being forced yesterday evening to seek out new places to sleep.

They struck rather than work two days a week for the care provided, and demanded wages for all work done. The relief agency in charge of the hotel answered the demand by ordering the hawker closed. When the men declined to leave, a police detail was called, and men left quietly.

FACTIONS FIGHT IN SPANISH TOWN

Bilbao, Spain, May 5.—A clash between Socialists and Nationalists today resulted in injuries to twenty-three persons and arrests totaling 120. Twenty-six men joined Nationalist prisoners in a hunger strike, bringing the total of the hunger strikers to 100. The men are held in connection with recent disturbances.

More than a dozen cities were menaced by strikes and disorders threatened by sympathizers of the hunger strikers.

MAN EXECUTED AT MONTREAL

Montreal, May 5.—Charles Schwartz was executed at the Montreal jail early today for the murder of John Jarvis, night watchman of an uptown office building, on September 19, 1931.

Schwartz mounted the scaffold in the jail yard with composure. He was the first Hebrew to be hanged in the province of Quebec.

Jarvis, according to evidence brought before two successive juries, was on his night rounds in the corridors of the office building when he found an office door open. Two assailants sprang at him and he was shot down from very short range.

Schwartz was arrested nearly two months later. Joe Bedetti, alleged by police to have been Schwartz's companion, was also indicted, but has not been found.

RAIL EARNINGS TOPIC OF DEBATE

Ottawa, May 5.—Co-operative efforts of the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific railways had nothing to do with the difference in the earnings as between the two lines, Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways, told the Commons yesterday evening.

E. DeMase is president of the federation and Mrs. Edward Mahon past president.

PROVINCIAL ISSUES
The policies which it has been decided to lay before the various candidates are:

"Less of party politics in British Columbia; greater co-operation on the part of the members of the Legislature."

"A considerable reduction in the size of the Provincial Legislature."

"Responsibility of the provincial government for at least that proportion of the total cost of public education which is borne during recess years, approximately 37 per cent."

"The adoption of a steeper gradation of rates in the income tax, with no increase in the rates for the income on the lower levels."

"Exploration of the possibilities of obtaining more revenue from succession duties on large bequests."

"Greater assurance for the people that tax assessments will be accurate and impartial, and that tax collections will be efficient and thorough."

"Investigation of the feasibility of arrangements whereby provincial and municipal governments could borrow money directly from the Dominion Government."

"Greater control over municipal corporations by the provincial government."

rowings by the provincial government. PAY AS YOU GO

"Legislative enactments which would reduce the maximum terms of life of provincial and municipal bond issues, in order that there might be an approximation to the 'pay-as-you-go' policy on the part of the provincial government and the municipalities."

FEDERAL ISSUES
"Vigorous federal and provincial policy of encouragement of production, internal and international trade, and consumption, in order that the real wealth of the nation may be increased and the standards of living of the people raised."

"Endeavor on the part of the Dominion Government and the provincial governments to bring to realization some scheme of debt conversion, in order that the crushing load of interest charges may be lightened."

"Greater control over the banks on the part of the Dominion Government, secured through a special legislative enactment."

"Close co-operation with the British and United States Governments in order that the stabilization of exchange rates and currency values may be hastened."

ECONOMIC COUNCIL
"The creation of a permanent, non-partisan, federal economic council, comprising in its membership economists, statisticians and representatives of group economic interests, consumers' organizations, farmers' or from Conservative associations."

"A careful study of the proposal that a national bank be created in Canada, a study conducted impartially by men not connected with the banks of Canada."

organizations, trade unions, merchants' organizations, manufacturers' organizations, etc. This council to serve the Dominion Government in an advisory capacity with respect to those economic problems which concern the people of the nation.

EDUCATIONAL SERVICES
"Free education until at least the end of the eighteenth year. The period of free admission to schools is five years and upward in Nova Scotia; six to twenty in New Brunswick; five to twenty-one in Ontario; six to twenty-one in Saskatchewan and six and upwards in Alberta."

"Maintenance of those provincial and municipal health services which have been provided for the children of the elementary and high schools. Expansion of provincial and municipal health services as soon as possible."

"Preservation of the status of home economics and manual training as elementary and high school subjects. The saving resulting from the elimination of any one subject from the curriculum would be negligible, for additional teachers would have to be appointed in the remaining subjects."

HIGH SCHOOLS
"Continuation of the policy of providing in the high schools a diversified curriculum, with courses varying according to the needs of the students. The policy of attracting to the ranks of the teaching profession high school graduates and university graduates of distinctly superior ability and character."

"A continuous and adequate financial support for the university in order that the institution may continue to make its fine contribution to the life and welfare of the province, and in order that its facilities for higher education may remain accessible to young people of all classes."

to time, and in this connection I shall be glad to have your suggestions and hearty co-operation, the sole object being to ensure a stable government."

The letter announces a committee will be created to prepare the government's platform, based on the address of Premier Tolmie in Vancouver a short time ago, but not necessarily confined to that speech. Suggestions concerning the platform are issued to groups, organizations, farmers' or from Conservative associations.

CHURCH HELD BY VIGILANTES

Members of Congregation in Philadelphia Oppose Change of Priests

Philadelphia, May 5.—Vigilantes, who had spent the night in the edifice, guarded a Roman Catholic church in South Philadelphia to-day to prevent diocesan priests from taking possession. Marking the third day of the "siege" of Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, a somewhat diminished crowd of parishioners reinforced the vigilance committee of twelve which was appointed late yesterday evening.

Since Wednesday communicants of the church have milled in and out of the structure, determined to force revocation of a decree transferring the church to the Augustinian Order to the Archdiocese of Philadelphia. They fear the change may mean eventual closing of the church.

They held a priest "captive" for several hours yesterday, and even forced a funeral cortege to go to another church. Police in vestible.

Police swung their club in the air in the church vestibule and two mounted officers rode through the gates in an attempt to disperse the crowd late yesterday. The officers were pushed bodily from the grounds and locked out.

The trouble began when the rector and his two assistants attempted to leave in compliance with the transfer order. The fast-gathering crowd refused to permit them to leave. When they got away it was in the capture of a wedge composed of twenty-five policemen. Later Rev. Simpliciano Gatti, assistant rector, returned to get some of his clothes and was made a captive. "We love him; we will not let him go," was the explanation.

Despite the fact its path was not smooth, the administration drove ahead with its plan for a world tariff truce between now and the convening of the London Economic Conference, June 12, the success of which Mr. Roosevelt is seeking so earnestly to

FAMOUS FOLK AT GALA PARTY

"400" of Society and Arts
Don Glittering Garb For Boy
Scouts Benefit

By JULIA BLANSHARD

New York, May 5.—Cobina Wright, social registerite, famous here and abroad for her annual fancy circus parties in which titled folk and other society celebrities not only have to wear costumes, but perform in their own circus "acts," staged the best one of her life this year for the benefit of the Boy Scouts.

The performers in the big ring, the side shows, palm reading booths and shooting galleries were a veritable cross-section of New York's "400," celebrities of the stage and screen, and famous artists and writers.

Francis Lederer who, as a singing Alpine peasant in "Autumn Crocus," became the town's matinee idol, furnished inspiration for more men's costumes than any other single character at the circus. There must have been 100 Tyrolean peasants, among the colorful 1,500 fancy costumes under the "big top" erected in the Waldorf-Astoria ballroom. De Wolfe Hopper, one of the pseudo-peasants, looked so native his best friends did not recognize him.

Marlene Dietrich and other women may have gone back to skirts, but there still seems to be a suppressed yen for trousers among women, judging by the numbers of them who appeared as bellhops, gigolos, cowboys, Spanish troubadours, pirates and bemused Bohemian artists. Julia Hoyt, who came with "Sailor" Clifton Webb, was the most stunning gigolo. Dressed in white flannel trousers, mess jacket and correct shirt and tie, with a wig and sideburns, she looked very distinguished as she raffled off canines at the dog kennels.

Mrs. Cobina Wright (right) and De Wolfe Hopper

RUDY COMES OUT

Rudy Vallee, in mufti, seemed not too heartbroken over his Reno troubles, as he squirmed lovely Erna Gillow, an appealing blonde in a glamorous sparkling beaded white gown. Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Dell also were in mufti. Grover Whalen acknowledged the fancy dress edict by wearing a red carnation instead of a white gardenia in the buttonhole of his dinner jacket. Anne Morgan, in white satin with a sable wrap, watched the party from the stage.

Charles Winninger was a dignified ring-master, garbed in a form-fitting black and white checked frock coat suit, with top hat of grey. Charles Le Mare, designer, in cerise blouse and white overalls, made a hit with the ladies.

Looking very tin-type herself, lovely Rosamond Pinchof made the most money for the Boy Scouts of any booth-tender, taking tin-types for a quarter each. Rosamond wore an old-time shirtwaist and plaid green and black wool skirt that not only was pinned up in the back with a safety pin that showed below the belt—but her placket gaped in old-fashioned manner.

Countess De Forzeville, in a picturesque scarlet circus queen costume, introduced the De Forzeville troupe of tumblers from Europe. The Grand Duchess Marie was a simple Russian peasant girl. Cleon Throckmorton, Peter Arno, Cecil Beaton, George Gerwin, Howard Chandler Christy, Russell Patterson, Otto Soglow, Noel Coward, Prince Matchabelli and Dudley Field Malone were an oddly assorted, but none the less fierce, band of Paris Apaches.

AVIATION NEWS

Air travel is gradually winning its place among other accepted modes of transportation in British Columbia. In several instances children have been entrusted to the care of Wells Air Transport pilots on the Vancouver-Victoria air service. One of the finest letters of thanks yet received for courtesies extended on this service was recently addressed Pilot Bill Lawson. Fred J. Brown of the Capitol Pharmacy, Vancouver, sent his son Buster to visit relatives in Victoria, and the modern young man made the round trip by air. In his letter Mr. Brown says, "He enjoyed it so much and was so expressive in his appreciation for the manner in which Mr. Lawson took care of him, we want you to know that we will never hesitate to let any of the three boys take this or any trip in the care of your pilots."

Canadian Airways Limited are to be congratulated on their recent announcement of the purchase of a De Havilland "Dragon," a new twin-engine aircraft designed in England. It is to be hoped that this is the forerunner of an increasing use of aircraft manufactured within the British Empire by Canadian operating companies.

R. Carter Guest, inspector of civil aviation with headquarters in Vancouver, has taken keen interest in the efforts of young airplane designers. Model airplane building contests organized by the Hysk Model Airplane Company of Victoria, in both Victoria and Vancouver, have called upon the knowledge of Mr. Guest, who has directed the judging of all models entered. Four district competitions in Vancouver, and a city-wide competition with the Home Products Fair, have made no small amount of work for him. Nevertheless he handled his voluntary duties with a willing spirit and to the entire satisfaction of everyone. His interest in these contests is no doubt because he believes that these clever boys who build exceptionally fine models are the aircraft engineers and designers of to-morrow.

Wells Air Transport's new Victoria headquarters in the Dominion Hotel are attracting favorable comments from many air travelers, with Roy Simons handling air travel business in the capital city. The Dominion Hotel offers special rates to all who travel on the Vancouver-Victoria air service. Steve Jones, the genial host of the Dominion, is well-known to a large number of business men who make the Dominion their home while in Victoria.

One reason why air transportation operations in British Columbia have been blessed with success over quite a long period, lies in the fact that aircraft operated here are subject to careful maintenance and inspection. Mechanical services on Wells Air Transport operations are efficiently taken care of at the Vancouver base by Air-Craft Service of British Columbia, who have developed a splendid organization from a small beginning just a few years ago. H. E. Davenport, manager, is winning the respect of aircraft owners and operators throughout the province by the quality of his mechanical service—nothing short of the very best being sufficiently good for air transport operations.

Frank Gilbert, owner of one of the Aeronaes at the Sea Island airport, supplies the smile of the week, though it is rather an expensive smile for Gilbert. En route to Harrison, he left the field at Chilliwack and returned to find the contented crows of the Fraser Valley munching the fabric of his fuselage. He had to borrow a sheet to make first aid repairs and return to Vancouver. Some suggest that a warning should be issued to local families, in case the milk on their morning mush starts cutting capers. Even the bovines are becoming air-minded.

BURDE MAY RUN AGAIN

Former Member Expected to Be Candidate in Alberni-
Nanaimo Riding

Port Alberni, May 5.—Major R.

(Dick) J. Burde, M.C., will in all probability be a candidate for the Alberni-Nanaimo riding in the provincial election, according to a statement issued by him. The Liberal nomination convention will be held here on May 19, when it is expected that both L. A. Hanna, M.P.P. for Alberni, and G. S. Pearson, the member for Nanaimo, will seek the nomination. It is expected that Dr. G. A. B. Hall of Nanaimo will be the candidate of the Bower party. Victor Harrison of Nanaimo may be in the field for the Conservative nomination, and it is thought probable that F. S. Cunliffe of Nanaimo will also seek nomination. There are rumors of a Co-operative Commonwealth candidate, a Communist will seek election and it is possible that a well-known resident of Nanaimo will run on the Soldier Labor ticket.

FARM STRIKE PLAN IN THE U.S.

Associated Press
Des Moines, Ia., May 5.—A nationwide strike May 13 on all farm products was voted yesterday by the National Farmers' Holiday Association of the United States, in convention here. For the second time within a year the delegates decided to withhold farm products from market in an effort to obtain prices covering cost of production. Adoption of the resolution for the declaration of a farm holiday was unanimous. One thousand farmers from various states were present. John A. Bosch, national secretary, estimated the total membership of the association at between 1,000,000 and 1,500,000 in seven states.

FOR PEOPLE WHO EXPECT A CAR TO DO THINGS

NOT JUST
BUT ALL OF THEM BETTER

Reduces engine
wear.

Produced at SHELLBURN, B. C.

You have been offered "quick-starting" gasolines, "power" gasolines, "anti-knock" gasolines. Here is a combination of all three. The three pure types of energy from the very heart of petroleum, with all the wasteful parts discarded.

QUICK ENERGY—For starting, pick-up, changes in motor speed. Very important to every driver. But only one of three essentials.

POWER ENERGY—Even the premium-priced fuels cannot excel Shell 3-energy in mileage, in power. Compare any fuel with Shell 3-energy gasoline—regardless of price. But mileage isn't the whole story.

ANTI-KNOCK ENERGY—to turn power into a smooth, steady flow. To reduce engine strain and wear; to give you quiet, knock-free performance on the hills.

Look for all three of these energies in Shell. Compare it with the so-called special "power fuels," the "super-anti-knock" gasolines and featured "starting" varieties. Here is a gasoline that does the entire job better!

Pretty Wedding At Courtenay Of Popular Couple

Courtenay, May 5.—Masses of daffodils, hyacinths, narcissus, flowering currant and foliage formed a delightful spring-time setting for the wedding on Tuesday morning of Frances Gilbert, eldest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. F. H. Moore of Courtenay, and Mr. Abraham (Wade) Rippon McLaughlin, younger son of Mrs. McLaughlin and the late Mr. Abraham McLaughlin of Fanny Bay. The ceremony was performed at 9 o'clock by the Rev. Dr. M. W. Lee at St. George's United Church, which was crowded with friends of the young couple, who are popular in the district. Prior to the ceremony, Mrs. Fraser, organist, and Mrs. J. Carey played a prelude of violin and organ selections, and during the signing of the register Mrs. M. B. Tribe sang "Love's Coronation."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a smart "swagger" suit of powder blue tweed, with lace blouse, a blue sash and grey accessories. She carried a bouquet of pink tulips, white narcissus and fern. Attending her sister as bridesmaid, Miss Katherine Moore also wore a swagger suit of green tweed, with pale green blouse, green hat and shoes, and carried a bouquet of pink tulips, narcissus and fern. Two dainty flower girls, Georgina, sister of the bride, and Mary Eileen Rickson wore similar tailored silk dresses with capes. Georgina in pale green and Molly in yellow, and carried Victorian posies of polyanthus. Mr. Donald McLaughlin, brother of the groom, acted as best man.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, attended by some forty guests, spring flowers being everywhere in evidence. The young couple were recipients of many good wishes and congratulations. The bride's table was spread with a handsome lace cloth and centred with a three-tier wedding cake, topped with a silver vase of lily of the valley.

The bride and groom left shortly after by motor for Victoria for their honeymoon suit on their return to make their home at Fanny Bay. Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Fairbairn, Owen and Jean of Comox, Mrs. McLaughlin and Mr. Jack Adams of Fanny Bay; Mrs. Lewis D. Orr, Miss Jean Anderson and Miss Evelyn Buckley, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson, Nanaimo; Mrs. Conn, Wistler River; Mr. and Mrs. G. Cavin, Campbell River; Mrs. E. Pickard, Cumberland; Mrs. H. Bryan, Cumberland; the Misses Edna, Conard, "Jo" Welch and Annie Beveridge of Cumberland.

CHURCH SCHOOL HAS GRADUATION

Toronto, May 5.—Seven young women yesterday evening received diplomas at the annual convocation and graduation service of the United Church Training School, affiliated with Emmanuel College. The seven had completed a one-year course.

ENGAGED TO MARRY KAISER'S GRANDSON

Announcement of the engagement of Prince Wilhelm of Prussia to Fläulein Dorothea von Salviati, above, aggrieved the Prince's grandfather, ex-Kaiser Wilhelm, for the betrothal violates the law of the House of Hohenzollern forbidding royalty to marry commoners.

NANAIMO NOTES

Nanaimo, May 5.—Funeral service for the late Mrs. Boothroyd of Alberni, formerly of Nanaimo, were held Tuesday afternoon from the Jenkins Funeral Chapel, the service being conducted by Rev. P. Henderson, Fraser Valley, assisted by Rev. A. McLean, Alberni. Interment took place in the family plot, Nanaimo cemetery. The following acted as pallbearers: C. N. Bradley and J. H. Condon, Alberni; J. P. Edge-Partington, A. Dean, Dr. S. Morrison and N. E. Carter. The monthly meeting of the I.O.D.E. Malapina Chapter, was held at the home of Miss Dorothy Devlin, Victoria Road, Tuesday evening. Reports of the provincial meeting held in Vancouver were given by the Misses Piper, Hindmarch and Devlin. The chapter accepted the invitation of Rev. W. R. Welch to attend divine service at the Haliburton Street United Church on I.O.D.E. Sunday. Money was collected for the egg fund of the Queen Alexandra Solatium. Arrangements were completed for an afternoon tea and bridge party.

The Devine Club staged a treasure hunt Tuesday evening when the members assembled at the United Church, and then proceeded to follow clues which led them to several parts of the city. The members were later served refreshments at Cedar, by Maryvyn Wilkinson. The hunt was organized by Eileen McMillan.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

BURDENOME DIET INFLUENCES DIGESTION OF CEREAL

While we accept the fact that some babies do show a personal sensitivity to cereal which makes its feeding dubious, we also know that overfeeding in general may cause the baby to react toward any new food as he would not do were he getting a more digestible diet.

SAME EFFECT

Mrs. F. L. M. has observed that two or three days after the inclusion of cereal in her baby's diet, he develops diarrhea and begins to vomit. She has tried all types of cereals and the result is always the same. She has decided that her seven-months-old baby cannot digest cereal.

Luckily, she told the whole story. Her baby is being nursed every four hours and at most of these feedings gets a bottle, too. The baby is only seven months old, and weighs 20 pounds (almost year-old weight) and he was not excessive in size at birth. In addition to 30 ounces of boiled milk, 10 ounces of boiled water, and four and one-half tablespoons of corn syrup, the baby is nursed at least three times daily and gets four teaspoonsful of cod liver oil. Under those circumstances it is not surprising that he reacts to the burden of food by developing diarrhea and vomiting, both indications of his intolerance.

DECREASE FORMULA

The solution lies not in bowing down to baby's verdict against cereal, but in balancing his overwhelming diet. The milk formula is sufficient to supply all of his nutritional needs without one drop of breast milk. If the breast milk is to be continued, the milk formula must be reduced to only a complementary formula and not a maintenance one.

The amount of cod liver oil is unnecessarily large. Two teaspoonsful of this at 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. are quite enough to cripple the digestion for the foods that follow. Because of the high fat content of plain cod liver oil, it is inadvisable to give it to the baby in large amounts. Fat is slow to digest, and tends to inhibit the digestion of other food elements with which it is associated. Two to three teaspoonsful of cod liver oil comprise the average preventive dose, and even this amount should be divided into smaller doses, so that it will not become a digestive burden at any one feeding. One-half to one teaspoonful of a spoonful of cod liver oil after a regular feeding will seldom be upsetting. Two teaspoonsful at one time, as given by Mrs. F. L. M., are almost certain to cause a disturbance.

THERE'S REALLY NO MYSTERY TO SOUFFLE MAKING

There's something about a souffle that captures everyone's interest and admiration. And while souffle-making seems most mysterious to the uninitiated, there's no conjuring trick about it. A few simple rules lead the way to a perfect souffle.

The mixture of a souffle is of prime importance. Whites and yolks of eggs must be beaten separately, the yolks with a rotary beater until thick and lemon colored, and the whites until stiff. Be sure to "fold" the whites into yolk mixture carefully. The fluffy consistency of the finished souffle depends upon this "folding" which prevents the breaking of the air bubbles in the egg whites.

Long, slow baking is also one of the secrets of souffle making. Forty to fifty minutes in an average baking dish should be allowed for baking at a temperature of 350 degrees Fahrenheit. When firm to the touch or when a sharp knife inserted in the centre of the souffle comes out clean, the souffle is done.

Chocolate Souffle

This dessert is distinctly "smart" and for that reason suitable for company occasions. However, it is so nourishing that it makes a splendid family dessert when vegetables have been served in place of meat.

Two tablespoons butter, two tablespoons flour, one cup milk, two squares bitter chocolate, six tablespoons granulated sugar, two tablespoons water, one-eighth teaspoon salt, one teaspoon vanilla, four eggs.

Melt butter and stir in flour. When perfectly blended, add milk, stir and ring constantly. Cook and stir until mixture boils. Melt chocolate over hot water, add sugar and hot water and stir until thick and lemon colored. Beat until cool. Add salt to whites of eggs and beat until stiff. Add vanilla to cooked mixture and fold in whites of eggs. Turn into buttered baking dish and bake forty-five minutes in moderate oven. Serve with whipped cream sweetened and flavored with vanilla or a drop of oil of peppermint.

Fish Souffle

Fish souffle is delicious served with a creamed vegetable or Hollandaise sauce.

One cup flaked fish, three eggs, one cup soft bread crumbs, half-cup cream, half-teaspoon salt, one tablespoon minced parsley, one teaspoon lemon juice, one-eighth teaspoon pepper.

Force fish through a coarse sieve or ricer. Combine cream and crumbs and cook, stirring constantly for five minutes. Add salt, pepper and parsley. Sprinkle lemon juice over fish and add to cooked crumbs. Add well beaten yolks of eggs and fold in whites beaten until stiff. Turn into a buttered baking dish and bake forty minutes in a moderate oven.

Garden City

A social was held in Garden City United Church Wednesday evening when the choir entertained. The programme opened with community singing, after which a song-guessing contest was won by Mrs. Allan and P. Fryatt. This was followed by a musical festival in which members of the choir took part, the adjudicators being the audience. The members of the winning quartette, "Love Old Sweet Song" included Mrs. Fryatt, Mrs. Reed, J. Jones and R. Scott. The "medals" were presented by W. R. Woods.

The choir, divided in two groups, contested for the "shield" in "The Jolly Ploughboy." This was presented to group No. 2 by Rev. W. P. McHaffie. Medals for pianoforte duets were won by the Misses Annie Allan and Jean Fryatt.

Other contests were won by J. Hobden as the best dressed lady in town, and a hat-trimming contest by Billy Allan.

Refreshments were served by the ladies of the choir.

DUNCAN NOTES

Duncan, May 5.—The monthly meeting of the Duncan Consolidated School Board was held Wednesday evening with Trustee O. T. Smythe in the chair. Reports were received from the finance committee, the supplies and repairs committee and school management committee. The sum of $50 was voted to be spent on the playing field in front of the junior elementary school, and $20 was voted for the purpose of sports equipment. A recommendation was brought forward to the effect that entrance into High School should be by written examination only, and not by recommendation, but this was not agreed to.

The monthly meeting of the Cowichan Chapter, Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire was held here Wednesday afternoon. The regent, Mrs. E. M. Dawson-Thomas, was in the chair. After routine business the question of raising funds was discussed. It was decided to handle the tea arrangements at the school sports, and to have a garden party early in June. Mrs. F. H. Scott and Mrs. C. F. Davis offered their home for the garden party. Arrangements for the annual ceremony at the school on Empire Day have been completed, and Rev. Mr. Napier has consented to speak to the children. June 18 will be Alexandra Rose Day.

Ruth St. Denis, internationally-known dancer, who has not been dancing with her equally-famous husband and partner, Ted Shawn, for quite a while, recently announced that although they have separated, they have no intention of getting a divorce. Since their separation they found they love each other more than ever. Distance, apparently, lending enchantment to the marital view.

Cricketers Hosts At Delightful Dance At Hotel

Members of the Blue Ribbon team, winners of the senior basketball championship of the Dominion, and their opponents, the Windsor-Walkerville Alumni team, and their respective managers, were given a rousing reception at the cricketers' dance held at the Empress Hotel yesterday evening and attended by about 500 guests.

The affair was an outstanding success, and reflected much credit upon the committee in charge, Messrs. Douglas Fletcher, Percy Payne, Percy Shrimpton, Reginald Wenman and E. Lock.

Reg. Woods' four-piece orchestra supplied the excellent programme of dance music, and during the evening a novelty programme was staged, Miss Betty Finch giving clever impersonations of Maurice Chevalier and Helen Kane, and Thelma Stratford and Dan Plater giving a graceful exhibition dance, each of the items being received with enthusiastic acclaim.

Supper was served by the management in the main dining room. The proceeds of this and other dances arranged by the cricketers are being applied to the improvement of the Macdonald grounds.

Horoscope

SATURDAY MAY 6, 1933

Astrologers read this as an important day in planetary direction, but adverse aspects are active.

In the early hours men and women who exercise authority may be difficult to please. Spraying fever is likely to affect them.

It is an unfavorable way under which to seek positions of any sort and the wise will not attempt to obtain promotion.

Under this planetary government public officials may be disturbed by scathing attacks from newspapers or by unjust judgments on the part of their constituents.

Members of legislative bodies are subject to adverse influences of the stars. They hope to save their partisan souls and may lose coveted popularity.

This is not an auspicious day for receiving political rewards of any sort. The stars encourage unselfish service in public affairs.

On this day plans for the coming week are well directed. The rule encourages constructive measures of every sort.

There is a promising sign for removals, especially for persons who go back to country life. Return to the land should be fortunate at this time.

Women may be disappointed in week-end programmes. Guests may disappoint and weather conditions may prove unsatisfactory.

Girls may find themselves neglected by young men who spend money for theatre and other places of amusement. The stars tonight will encourage thrift and economy.

Editors may be wary while this planetary government continues, but the seers prophesy that the summer will bring much love-making.

Again a return to Victorian customs will make chaperons popular and courtship less informal, astrologers prophesy.

Persons whose birthdays it is to have the augury of a year of small successes that increase by overcoming obstacles. The months should be fairly prosperous.

Children born on this day probably will be enterprising, but exceedingly sensitive.

"The Tangle"

A Novel by

H. LAWRENCE PHILLIPS

Author of "Cap'n Benny" and "A Friendless Millionaire"

"Oh! what are we to do—what are we to do for your mother?"

"He considered for a moment."

"We must get her away and conceal every trace of her having been here, and be careful to leave none ourselves."

"But how about giving the alarm? We can't go and leave these two poor souls; we must summon the police."

"Best not, sir; think of mother first. We know of her liability to these attacks, they don't. If they come it means her arrest, and she will wake to find herself in prison. No. Get her home as speedily as possible, and say nothing to anyone. Leave me to myself here to look for traces. I will join you in a few minutes, take her off, and lose no time."

"Like a man in a dream I did as I was told, and taking my wife's arm I guided her from the room and from the house. We met no one on the homeward journey, and the maid went out, having been allowed leave for the evening. My first care was to get my wife to her room and in bed, and then to remove any traces of her awful experiences. I bathed her still stained hand, and noting that one of her shoes was stained, I put the pair in the kitchen range and waited until they were completely destroyed."

"I had hardly finished doing this when I heard Tom's steps, and he came to me in the study and told me what he had done. I think that he had better take up the tale and relate the story he poured into my horrified ears."

"The Colonel sank back in his chair, clearly somewhat exhausted by the effort he had made in telling his story. Manson and the Vicar, who had preserved silence while he was speaking, now turned to Tom."

"When father left me," he began, "my idea was to scout around to make sure that no signs were left of the mother's presence. Here, I thought, my police training will help. I am afraid that I proved a dud at the job, judging by what you have ferreted out. I must ask you to remember, though, that I had no time to waste, and as far as any other part of the house than the drawing-room was concerned, I was working in darkness, for I simply dared not chance lighting up."

"So as swiftly and as quietly as possible I had a look round, and missed the only piece of evidence there was—the handkerchief. Feeling rather thankful that there was nothing to arouse suspicion, I turned to go, when I took a last look at the bodies."

"One moment, please. Tell me their relative positions," interrupted Manson. Tom nodded understandingly.

"They lay near a small table, Mrs. Lisle nearer the fireplace side of the room, and Miss Debnam—"

"Nearer the door of the room," again the interruption was Manson's.

"Now how the deuce did you get that?" inquired Estcourt amazedly.

"Guess work from the fact of the motor being at the door," replied the detective, smiling at the other's wondering look.

"Well, anyway, you are right; the poor girl was not three yards from the door."

"Thanks. Carry on, please."

"I was saying that I took a last look at the bodies, when suddenly what at the time I thought was a brilliant idea flashed across my mind. As they lay, murder was written large by their position—Could murder and suicide be suggested? I thought quickly, and argued that to support such a theory the bodies must be separated. How?"

"I thought of carrying one of them—Miss Debnam seemed the obvious one, she was the more decided personality of the two—to another room. Then I thought of the car, why not utilize it?"

"I acted upon the impulse and lifted her up, shielding myself from any possibility of bloodstains by wrapping her head and shoulders in one of the rugs in the room. I carried her to the motor and placed her on the seat beside the driver, and was about to start off when I remembered the pistol, and went back to fetch it. As I was coming out again I thought that I heard the sound of a step outside, the French windows, and my heart stood still. I hastened away with my ghastly companion; fortunately the car had been turned ready for driving away, and thinking of the lane to the common, I turned up the road by the side of the house. I had to have some light, so I just put on the dimmer and drove, bumping and jolting, breaking off the branches of the hedge on both sides as I went."

"I stopped at the gate, and mindful of leaving traces, stepped as carefully as I could, and thought that I had been successful—confound that beastly rabbit! When I got to the concealed part of the lane I lifted the body out, and laid it on the ground. Then I took the automatic, which was clamped with blood, and washed it with some petrol from the tank, and placed it on the ground near her hand. Taking the rug with me I hastened home, and it shared the same fate as the shoes, being burned in the kitchen range. That's all I have to tell."

"You didn't by any chance cover the face with a handkerchief?" Manson asked.

"I bungled this business badly, but I'm not so great a bungler as to do that, seeing the purpose I had in mind of suggesting suicide."

"The detective nodded understandingly."

"But I hope that what we have said is sufficient cause for your actions, and quite confirms the evidence of my wife's innocence. I can see now," said the Colonel, "what happened. She did as we did, entered the house and drawing-room, and came upon that awful scene. It upset us enough—what it must have meant for her I can't think. The terrible shock brought on the old trouble, and she is, as in the first attack, probably unable to give an account of what really happened. The revolver she must have picked up mechanically, I suppose."

"Manson remained silent for a moment, then he said—"

"I can understand why you acted as you did, Colonel, and can sympathize with your action. At the same time I wish to goodness you hadn't done so."

"His whimsical smile took off from the words of rebuke anything that savored of harshness, and the two men whose action he was criticizing became his firm friends from that moment."

"Now," he went on, "I want a question or two answered."

"Ask away," quoth Tom, a different man, as was his father, now that their load was lifted, and as eager now to give information as they had been to suppress it at the beginning of the interview.

"How long after your mother were you in entering the 'Lindens'?"

"That's difficult to answer; but judging from the point where we met Miss Montait, we should have taken about five minutes to get to the house."

"I think we are safe in saying that five or six minutes only had elapsed."

"Yes," acquiesced the Colonel, "my wife left Miss Montait to enter the house, and you tell me she saw her turn into the gate. The place where we met her was close by, and would have taken her a couple of minutes to walk there—she was trotting along in a hurry, I remember. For our sauntering pace allow three minutes, and a minute for the drive, and you get six minutes."

"Thank you," answered the detective thoughtfully. "I fancy we can fix the time of the murder to within a minute or two. Now my second question. Did you see anyone? I am afraid that seems rather a stupid one, for of course you would have said, but did you? Or hear anyone? You spoke of doing so when you went to fetch the automatic—someone outside the window, wasn't it?"

"Yes. Of course I saw no one in the house. I didn't spend any time investigating. As for the noise I spoke of, that was at the end of my search—it must have been some twenty minutes after the two murders. I don't see any connection."

"Perhaps not with the murder itself, but it seems to link up with my next question—What was the state of the room when you saw it? Was there any sign of disturbance?"

"None at all. I remember thinking how incongruous the dainty order of the place seemed with the tragedy which had taken place. I say though, I see what you are getting at—Don't you remember our surprise, sir, when we were told that the state of your study was like that of the 'Lindens'?"

"Tom cried excitedly to the Colonel, 'Well, I am glad to help you on that point. When I left the house everything was in position, and I saw no one,' he repeated again."

"But I did," said Gray, almost as excitedly as Tom.

Manson turned on him quickly.

"Got something more up your sleeve, have you? I shall have to run you in before I've finished for 'hindering the police in the execution of their duties.' Who is it this time?"

"That I can't say exactly."

"Why not?"

"The light was dim, and I only caught sight of him instinctively, and I could only judge by his figure."

"Could you tell us who you suspect him to be?"

All awaited the answer in anxious silence.

"Look here, Manson, I've only the vaguest surmise to go upon, and in such a serious business I don't like to say what that is. We have learned sufficiently lately how easy it is for us to get false impressions and harmful suggestions."

Manson flushed a little at the rebuke.

"Look here, Tom, you needn't get on your high horse over the matter. I take it that whatever is said here is said in the strictest confidence." He looked towards the Colonel and his son, who nodded, murmuring, "Of course."

"That being so," he continued, "you can speak out, and needn't be afraid that any of your innocent parishioners will be damaged by any inquiries that may be made."

"Well," replied the Vicar, with evident reluctance, "I was under the impression—remember I was only the faintest—that it was Shadwell."

"Who the dickens is Shadwell?" demanded "Curly Greens."

"I forgot that you didn't know him."

Uncle Wiggly Goes Riding

By HOWARD E. GARIS

Uncle Wiggly was whistling a merry tune. He certainly seemed very happy after his May party when he had tied the Bob Cat with the animal girls jumping ropes and had taken the ice cream away from the Bad Chap. Besides whistling, Uncle Wiggly was twinkling his pink nose.

"Why are you so jolly this morning?" asked Nurse Jane Puzzy, who was out in the yard back of the hollow stump bungalow. Nurse Jane was shaking a rug. No, that the rug had been bad, but it had some dust in it that Nurse Jane wanted to shake out.

The muskrat lady housekeeper didn't really want the dust for herself. She just wanted to take it away from the rug.

"I am going riding," answered Uncle Wiggly.

"On a rocking horse?" asked Nurse Jane, sort of blinking one eye; for she knew, of course, that Uncle Wiggly didn't ride rocking horses.

But the old rabbit gentleman was somewhat of a joker himself, so he answered and said to Nurse Jane:

"No, I am going riding on the clothes horse."

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the muskrat lady. "And if you get tired of riding on the clothes horse, Mr. Longears, I suppose you will have a gallop on the carpenter's saw horse."

"Maybe," said the rabbit gentleman.

And then he went out to the garage, gave his automobile a drink of gasoline and started riding in that.

"Where are you going?" asked Nurse Jane as Uncle Wiggly looked at big fat bologna sausage tires of his machine to make sure none of the puppy dogs had been gnawing holes in them.

flowers and now I am going to look again."

"I hope you find some," murmured Miss Puzzy Wuzzy as she took the rug in to let it lie down on the floor and go to sleep.

"Thank you, I hope the same," spoke Uncle Wiggly and he took a little nibble off one side of the big turnip which was the steering wheel of his auto. That was one nice thing about Uncle Wiggly's auto. Whenever the rabbit gentleman was riding in it and felt hungry he had only to nibble the turnip steering wheel.

"Some day," said Uncle Wiggly to himself as he rode along, "I will get Nurse Jane to make me a big, round chocolate cake for a steering wheel. The only trouble might be, though, he chuckled, "that I would nibble it all up and then I would have no way of steering."

So Uncle Wiggly went riding, looking for May flowers.

Now, if you don't mind, suppose we go to the hollow stump school and see what is going on there. Baby Bunty, the little orphan rabbit, was reading to the kindergarten class when, all of a sudden, Bunty wanted to sneeze. So, very politely, she took out her clean pocket handkerchief, or "hankie," as she sometimes called it.

Bunty had her sneeze, but as she started to put her handkerchief back into her pocket some black specks flew out and, all of a quickness, many of the animal boy and girl pupils began sneezing and so did the Lady Mouse Teacher.

Now, if you don't mind, suppose we go to the hollow stump school and see what is going on there. Baby Bunty, the little orphan rabbit, was reading to the kindergarten class when, all of a sudden, Bunty wanted to sneeze. So, very politely, she took out her clean pocket handkerchief, or "hankie," as she sometimes called it.

Bunty had her sneeze, but as she started to put her handkerchief back into her pocket some black specks flew out and, all of a quickness, many of the animal boy and girl pupils began sneezing and so did the Lady Mouse Teacher.

"My goodness, Bunty—ker-choo—"

"I hope you find some," murmured Miss Puzzy Wuzzy as she took the rug in to let it lie down on the floor and go to sleep.

"Thank you, I hope the same," spoke Uncle Wiggly and he took a little nibble off one side of the big turnip which was the steering wheel of his auto. That was one nice thing about Uncle Wiggly's auto. Whenever the rabbit gentleman was riding in it and felt hungry he had only to nibble the turnip steering wheel.

"Some day," said Uncle Wiggly to himself as he rode along, "I will get Nurse Jane to make me a big, round chocolate cake for a steering wheel. The only trouble might be, though, he chuckled, "that I would nibble it all up and then I would have no way of steering."

So Uncle Wiggly went riding, looking for May flowers.

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES

May 5, 1908

(From The Times Files)

Weather forecast—Victoria and vicinity—Generally fair, higher temperature.

E. G. Taylor, Dominion Government fisheries inspector, left this afternoon for Sooke on the steamer Georgia to transfer the lobster recently brought from Nova Scotia from the crates in which they were placed on their arrival to open water, where they will be left to fatten for themselves.

A. T. Goward, local manager of the B.C. Electric Railway Company, was a passenger on the steamer Princess Royal this morning for Vancouver.

The first sausage that was ever eaten in Victoria was made by a Scotman, who became reminiscent in the corridor of the Dominion Hotel this morning, and declared that it was the best sausage ever made, and was far ahead of the common article offered to the general public by the trade to-day.

Alderman Gleason's by-law providing that all billiard and pool rooms, skating rinks, dance halls and other such places of amusement licensed by the city shall close at midnight on week nights and shall remain closed all day Sunday and that all shops licensed by the city, except those holding liquor licenses, which are dealt with already, shall not open for business for sundays, was taken by the City Council last night, but met with the same objection as did his measure to increase the liquor license last week.

The parks board is determined that the regulations of that body against the running at large of dogs in Beacon Hill Park must be observed.

He cashed a cheque IN MID-OCEAN

"There have been times," said a friend who has travelled widely, "when I have found my immediate supply of ready money practically exhausted, with the nearest bank located on land some hundreds of miles away."

"It is to meet such a situation that I always buy travellers' cheques from Imperial Bank of Canada. These cheques are honoured everywhere, and they obviate the need of carrying large sums of currency."

POETIC PLAY WINS ACCLAIM

Artistry Unusual in Amateur Productions Achieved in "The Chinese Fragment"

Large Crowd Delighted With Presentations on Fourth Night of Drama Festival

By P. M.

Noel Cusack, Archie MacCorkindale, A. M. D. Fairbairn, Roy Shadbolt and Gertrude Partridge, playing as the Forbes-Robertson Players, "The Chinese Fragment," adapted and directed by Ethel Reese Burns, won yesterday evening's competition in the B.C. Drama Festival at the Crystal Garden Theatre. The adjudicators' award was most popular with a large crowd, who have been following the competition throughout the week.

Labelled as a poetic drama, "The Chinese Fragment" is carried out in the spirit of Oriental imagery, with the stage techniques based on the techniques of the Chinese theatre. It was a severe test of histrionic ability and to be effective had to be carried out with an unusually fine attention to detail and a sense of delicacy. The players rose to these demands of their vehicle in a way that charmed the audience. Miss Cusack's work in this as Koong-See, her enunciation, poise and the fine shading with which she handled her lines, was the outstanding feature of the evening. "Perfectly done," exclaimed one of the adjudicators as the curtains closed.

MacCorkindale as Chang, the young lover; Mr. Fairbairn as the powerful Mandarin, Miss Partridge as the incense burner, and Mr. Shadbolt as the property man, combined to achieve a degree of fine artistry unusual on the amateur stage.

This production will be repeated in the finals Saturday night.

Miss Cusack also played the role of Kathleen in the first number of the evening, which was "The Dance Below," by Hudson Strode and Larry Rowland, an entry of the Victoria Little Theatre Association. It was a scene in hell with Kathleen meeting two of her admirers from earth. These two were played by John Anderson and John Bates, who on earth had been a petty officer in the navy, and Fraser Lister as Paul Knox, who on earth had been a poet. The play was on a gruesome theme in an unearthly setting and the work of Mr. Anderson and Mr. Lister was forcibly done. Miss Cusack's work in it proved that she has considerable capacity as an emotional actress. This production, which was rated as second by the audience, was most skillfully directed by Vivien Combe.

The other two plays of the evening were comedies and both were done in a way well above the average of the evening. As far as The Fairfield Players presented A. A. Milne's "Worzel Gummidge," with Harry Cox, Marjorie Biddell, Gwendolyn Cox, Genie Broome-Cox, Douglas Nixon and Janie Williams in the cast, under Mrs. G. Nixon as director.

The New Thought Temple Dramatic Club presented "The Trouseau," by Glen Hughes. In the cast of this was Mrs. M. Stephens, whose sense of comedy as a powerful, dominating modern wife of an insect husband, particularly delighted the audience. Jean Specie, E. Crimmond, Mrs. E. C. Head, W. G. Ellis, Jack Harvey and George W. Grant. The production was directed by Edith Scott-Burritt.

The programme for this, the fifth evening of the festival, starting at 8 o'clock at the Crystal Garden Theatre, is as follows:

Vancouver Little Theatre Association: "Boccaccio's Untold Tale," by Henry Kemp, Lizzie (Honour Kid), Violante (Joan Miller), Olivia (Ella Bunting), Florio (Basil Langton), Director, G. F. Scott.

Victoria School of Expression, "Confessions," by A. Conan Doyle, (W. Ord), She (E. McCullough), Scene, an attractive living room. Director, Mrs. Wilfrid Ord.

The Pen Players, "Noon Whistle," by Jack Shadbolt. Barry Seldon (Jack Shadbolt), The Manager of the Mill (Roy Shadbolt), Kitty (Mary McDonald), Director, J. A. McDonald.

The Dwarf Theatre, "The Lyre Bird," by L. Bullock Webster, Synia Ash (Margory Benson), Jane Brennan (Isabelle Benson), Director, Jane L. Benson.

NEW MEAL TAX REGULATIONS

Schedule Set For Levy on Boarding House Customers

The revamped regulations covering administration of the new tax on meals in aid of hospitals were published today, affecting mainly daily, weekly and monthly rates.

All food, beverages, services and other things served in connection with the daily cost of fifty cents or over, are taxable, and make it impossible to evade the tax by a cover charge. Sleeping accommodations are not included.

The new tax will not apply on the total sum paid in the purchase of a meal ticket, except where a meal costs fifty cents or more. This is said to be by charge from the original draft, which is charged on the sum paid for the ticket.

Another concession made in the new draft is that charged meals of less than fifty cents will not be taxed when paid in a lump sum.

Where the rate per diem is fixed, the following will govern: If the daily rate is not in excess of $1, there will be no tax; where it is over $1, but not in excess of $1.25, the tax will be assessed on one fifty-cent meal; where it is over $1.25, the full amount shall be charged.

Where weekly rates prevail no tax is made on a rate of $7. from $7. to $7.50 a fifty-cent meal will be assessed daily; from $7.50 to $9 the tax will be assessed against two fifty-cent meals a day; and over $9 the full amount of the tax will be assessed.

Where a monthly rate of $28 is charged on meals, no tax will be made; from $28 to $30 one tax meal a day is assessed; from $30 to $35 a tax on two meals a day and over $35 the full amount is charged.

Penalties set out stand at $5 to $25 for an individual refusing to pay the tax and from $10 to $50 for a proprietor refusing to comply with the regulations.

RECOVERY IS UNCEASABLE

Major Harold Brown Sounds Optimistic Note in Address Here To-day

Urges People to Recognize Responsibilities as Citizens and Co-operate

"We have made more progress towards actual fundamental recovery during the past three months than we have done for the last three years," Major Harold Brown, immediate past president of the Vancouver Board of Trade, this afternoon told a joint meeting of the Chamber of Commerce and Credit Grantors' Association of Victoria, in urging upon the members the necessity for co-operative effort in realizing the responsibility of their duties as citizens.

Major Brown spoke of the value of the work which such organizations as the Chambers of Commerce and Boards of Trade were doing at the present time. "Such is the delicate sensitiveness of trade these days that the co-operation of these bodies is essential," he stated.

A strong effort was being made in Vancouver to simplify construction enthusiasm, he continued, adding that he hoped it would be carried to Victoria and other Canadian centres.

During the war he met a young flying officer of the Canadian forces and came to Victoria as a bride.

Friends are congratulating Miss Eileen Petty, who celebrates her birthday today. Miss Petty hails from Yorkshire, England, and has been a resident of Victoria for many years. She is on the staff of the Jameson Coffee Co. Miss Petty enjoys golfing and also takes great delight in a game of bridge.

JUDGE WIDENS ESTATE INQUEST
 Clayton Heirs Get Order For Investigation of B.A. Trust—Western Lands Books

$125,000 Realized For Them on Boom Sale of Land Now Worth $1,000

Mr. Justice Fisher in the Supreme Court today gave Henry C. Hall, K.C., an order for further inquiry into the accounts of the B.A. Trust Co. and Western Lands and examination of A. Haynes in connection with the affairs of the estate of John Clayton, who died in 1909 at Bella Coola. Mr. Hall is counsel for the Clayton estate.

A. Maclean, K.C., counsel for the B.A. Trust and Mr. Haynes who handled the Clayton estate from the original northern estate, dropped out, declared there were no hidden profits realized in the handling of the estate, as claimed by Mr. Hall and for which he is now suing.

Tuesday trustees have paid $140,000 to the widow and children and they still have in their possession assets amounting to $200,000, said Mr. Maclean. "They got the greatest advantage for the beneficiaries from the real estate boom before the war. They sold one piece of land at Bella Coola for $125,000 that you could not get $1,000 for today. It is natural that in the excitement of those wild boom days of speculation, there might have been a few losses. The beneficiaries got the benefit."

But they say there are some more benefits they did not get and which they should get, said Mr. Justice Fisher.

"The were no concealed profits," replied Mr. Maclean.

Mr. Hall told the court he challenged a loan of $6,700 to Henry Harkness in connection with a real estate deal as this money was taken out of the trust funds, then turned into the B.A. Trust and from there into the account of the Western Lands.

"We say they used this money to enable a sale to go through and they are liable if they were interested in this land or in some of the concessions," Mr. Hall went on. "This company was the heaviest speculator in real estate in Victoria at the time. Should the B.A. Trust Company be able to create another company with its own shareholders and say here this is another company you are dealing with?"

Mr. Maclean declared it all happened twenty-three years ago and that there was nothing held back from the estate. He denounced the inquiry as a fishing expedition.

The justice ruled for the examination of the books and examination of Mr. Haynes as applied for by Mr. Hall, but this examination to be at the expense of the estate.

WATER RATES TO BE DISCUSSED
 Apartment house owners who have protested against increase service charges for water will have an opportunity to present their views at a special session of the City Council's water committee next Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock.

In view of the fact that Alderman Andrew McAvin has already given notice of motion for an amendment to the by-law, the conference with the committee may have an important bearing on the measure, which was passed last year.

J. D. H. Stewart has tendered his resignation as deputy mining recorder for the sub-recording office at Agassiz.

Fine Gymnastics At "Y" Circus

Large Audience Sees Display
By Talented Groups

Jan Gibson, diminutive twelve-year-old dancer, the star pupil of Mrs. Dorothy Wilson's Russian School of Dancing, in a Russian and an Indian dance, proved to be one of the highlights of the annual Y.M.C.A. circus which opened in the association's gymnasium for a three-day run yesterday evening. Other top notch acts were provided by the junior school boys' class with an intricate flag drill, and by the prep class with a candle maze march and callisthenics. The programme will be repeated to-night and to-morrow night.

Throughout the whole evening the audience was kept entertained by the comical antics of Ralph Alcock and Charles de Macedo, who appeared in several varied and weird costumes. Two members of the International Five Tumbling group also dressed up and amused the crowd with their fun making.

The programme opened with the junior school boys, under Archie McKinnon, executing an intricate flag drill with beautiful precision. Pyramids on the parallel bars by the intermediate employed boys was the following number and rounds of applause greeted the efforts of the young gymnasts. A number of intricate exercises were performed by this class in the construction of the various pyramids. The class was under the direction of Viv. Shoemaker, boys' secretary of the Y.M.C.A.

MARCH IMPRESSIVE. An impressive march in intertwining formations in the darkened gymnasium, the only illumination being provided by the candles the boys carried, was the offering of the prep class. This group of youngsters, clad in pajamas, presented a pleasant representing callisthenic "setting-up" exercises. The class was conducted by Harry Robson.

The International Five presented an accomplished and finished tumbling act and the audience responded warmly with applause to the difficult feats

Why stay RUN-DOWN?

Fruit-a-tives give new life

"The only thing that makes me miserable now is the thought that for years I struggled alone in a condition, when, if I had known about 'Fruit-a-tives' I would have been well. I was constipated, nervous and suffered greatly from severe headaches. 'Fruit-a-tives' toned me up generally. They really have done me the world of good."

Fruit-a-tives . . . all drug stores

they performed. A musical novelty was presented by Harold Rose and his three singing troubadours presented two songs around a campfire, while Norval Peterson, "The Whistling Tramp," delighted those present with his rendition of several popular and classical numbers.

A special group under Archie McKinnon, physical director of the "Y", thrilled the audience with their daring performance on the high bar. Commencing with single acts, it finished with teams of gymnasts performing simultaneously on the bar.

A pole drill by the members of the junior employed class also proved interesting. Then senior leaders group, under N. Collins, were billed as members of the Y.W.C.A. and appeared dressed in feminine attire and gave an exhibition of intricate exercises on the long "elephant" and springboard. Single, double and triple exercises were performed by the talented members of this group.

An entertaining eccentric dance was presented by Len and Lenora, who were forced to come back for an encore, so insistent was the audience. Jack Hartree with his "lightning" bolas proved to be a very good entertainer and received warm commendation from the bleachers.

An amusing skit, presented by Theopian minded members of the junior employed group, entitled "The Fatal Quest," was well received. The final number on the programme, exercises on the "elephant" and springboard by the junior leader corps, proved to be one of the highlights of the evening. The most outstanding feature of this act was a dive through a paper bull's eye on to a table by a group of boys, while others performed "rolls" on the ends of the "elephant."

SEEK REPAIRS TO SIDEWALKS

Immediate repairs to sidewalks on Saanich Road and Esplanade Avenue will be sought by the Saanich Ward Two Non-Political Ratepayers' Association. It was decided after hearing various complaints from ward residents at a meeting Wednesday evening.

Several speakers stated that the walks were in a sad state of repair and complained that the council had taken no action in having them improved. While it was realized the council possessed little funds for this work, it was felt that something of a temporary nature might prove satisfactory.

A request from Tom L. Sargeant, president of the Saanich Central Ratepayers' Association, to have the new ward body affiliate, was tabled and a committee appointed to attend the next meeting of the larger association. The members of the committee are: C. H. Underwood, E. Warren and W. Hayward.

Esquimalt Police Estimates Passed

Estimated costs of operating the Esquimalt Police Department this year will be $6,085, or $400 less than last year, according to the budget finally passed by the municipal commissioner yesterday evening. Principal reductions were effected in salaries of the magistrate and police court clerk, who were cut 15 per cent. and in the appropriation for sundries.

Chief of Police H. W. V. Pecknold's April report showed the department received and attended 114 complaints. There were two court cases and fines and tax collections totaled $112.

Goldman's Sequel to the East-west Fish Story Told by Buck Yeo

Enthusiasts and Coaches Wonder Where Value Lies in Telephonic Swimming

Lenore Knight May Not Rate in Helene Madison's Eyes But She Wins

HERE'S THE sequel to the East-west fish story told at the luncheon. Premier Talmie gave the Windsor-Walkerville Alumni and the Victoria Blue Ribbons on Tuesday. "Buck" Yeo gave it to the press box yesterday evening.

A feature of the luncheon was a perfect and beautifully garnished twenty-eight pound spring salmon.

"Buck" drew Julius Goldman's attention to it, saying, "Nice fish, Goldie."

"Yeah," remarked Goldie. "Pretty big, isn't it?"

"Oh, I don't know," said Buck. "We use that for bait to catch the big ones out on the coast."

"Goldie thought for a minute. 'You send some of your big ones east don't you, Buck?'"

"Certainly," the Windsor pivot remarked. "We use 'em for bait back there."

With the warm weather-like property—just around the corner—Victoria's tennis fraternity is turning its attention to tennis.

This year they will watch with interest two boys who have been coming from Seattle to pick up titles fairly regularly. Mel Branga and Hank Prusoff.

Hank has generally managed to beat out Mel, but this year it's going to be different, says Dranga. He has informed a select circle in the Sound City by a going to pick up titles fairly regularly. Mel Branga and Hank Prusoff.

While many local people might like to see Mel accomplish his objective, it is a noticeable fact that Prusoff has been invited to play in the midwestern tournament in Chicago, a possibility of going into other big time meets. No word has been received here regarding Mel's chances of going east.

Swimming—enthusiasts and coaches here are wondering what possible value can be found in telephonic swimming races. At the end of last month, Mel Branga, Ray Daugherty's male Washington Athletic Club fish, swimming in his home pool, took a beating from Ralph Flanagan, swimming in Flanagan's pool, over the 500-yard race, via telephone.

It was probably a lot of fun for the telephone company, but it could not be regarded as a test of speed. Try as they might, pool officials in the two centres could not make conditions identical. The tanks would not be the same nor would the air, an important factor. But more important than that, neither swimmer could see his opponent either out in the pool or on the phone. It takes a challenge to bring out the best in any race contestant.

The idea is similar to that practiced in a dual track meet between Washington and one of the California universities, when one of the field men from the Sound City, unable to attend the southern meet, issued the dispatch and wired the results of his throw to California.

On a similar understanding, The Times office boy, Mel Branga, was scheduled to a twenty round bout, Max to battle in Berlin and The Times hopeful in Victoria. O.K.

Fans who saw the big basketball game on Wednesday evening at the Willows, gave the two teams a big hand for their knock-down and drag-out exhibition, preceding the feature, a tug-of-war, a big tug in diameter than the players themselves, the little fellows put up a highly entertaining display that made the time pass rapidly for the faithful awaiting the big match. Victoria may have been looking at Canadian champions in the embers in the certain-raising tilt. Who knows?

When Helene Madison was last in Victoria, she was asked to name her successor to the throne of the world's women's swimming domain. Lenore Knight was suggested as her apparent, but Helene said no.

However, the senior National A.A.U. swimming meet at Buffalo, N.Y., recently was a record-breaking one for Lenore. The girl swimmer emerged from the water after the meet with three new records in her possession, setting a new mark in the 500-yard free-style event on the last day of the meet. Her time for this event was 6:18-10.

NORTHERN BALL LEAGUE OPENED

Canadian Press

Brainerd, Minn., May 5.—Dormant for more than a decade, the Northern Professional Baseball League staged a comeback to three north state towns yesterday. Winnipeg, only Canadian team in the circuit, bowed to Brainerd here, 4 to 3. Superior lost to the Villing-Crookston team by the same score, while Grand Forks defeated Eau Claire, 11 to 4.

Brainerd bunched his handily in the fourth and fifth innings and stifled the Canadians' only threat of the game when Rosetta smacked a three-bagger in the eighth.

ing attempt, dropping in long range shots to climb to within five points of Victoria with the score at 38 to 30, but they could not stand the terrific pace set by the Capital City boys and were unable to narrow that margin.

As on Wednesday evening, Ribbons kept four of their first stringers in action all the time. Lynn and Muzz Patrick and Chuck and Art Chapman going the entire route without substitution. Lynn, Chuck and Art all had three persons on them and the fans were in fear that one of them would be lost, but the boys managed to keep them.

It was a great series and the Alumni were the first to congratulate the Victorians when it was over.

THE PLAY

The brother combination started for Victoria with Tommy Little and Chuck Chapman at guard, Lynn and Muzz Patrick forwards and Art Chapman centre.

Alumni went in their first string to open, Jimmy Stewart and "Scrub" Aitchison at forwards, Goldman at centre and King and Dawson at guard.

Both teams started ineffectively, Victoria, taking the tip-off, lost the ball under the basket and Aitchison failed to sink his shot. King blocked a good try by Lynn Patrick and Muzz Patrick missed before Chuck Chapman hit the iron on a long shot.

Dawson failed to convert a foul against Lynn Patrick for blocking. Chapman and Goldman narrowly missed long shots and Stewart and Aitchison were unable to make close-range attempts.

Aitchison opened the scoring, netting one of two free throws awarded against Art Chapman.

Muzz Patrick dropped in the Ribbons first basket with a pretty side court shot to put Victoria ahead 2 to 1. Goldman just rimmed the hoop on Dawson's rebound and Muzz Patrick went in to take brother Lynn's rebound and score again. J. Stewart was guarded from the rear, but was unable to convert his shot.

Joe Ross went in for Little, Chuck Chapman intercepted nicely and hit the iron on his attempt. Lynn Patrick missed a pass from Muzz Patrick to make the count read 7 to 1 for Victoria on his own goals.

Butcher relieved Stewart and Windsor scored on a pass from Muzz Patrick to make the count read 7 to 1 for Victoria on his own goals.

ALUMNI CLIMB UP

Art Chapman fouled Goldman twice in a row and the Alumni centre twice one free shot count. Aitchison scored on a pass from Goldman and Dawson.

VANCOUVER BOXERS WIN

Take Trio of Bouts From Washington Fighters in Seattle

Lenhart Beats Dick Evans; Fort Worth Heavy Wallops Oakland Giant

Seattle, May 5.—Nels Ferguson, Vancouver, B.C., 150 pounder, won a four-round decision over Jimmy Wilson, Seattle, at the White Centre Arena yesterday evening, leading all the way.

Jimmy Ireland, Vancouver welterweight, scored a first-round technical knockout over Eddie Edelman, Portland, in another scheduled four rounder.

Other results were:

Bud Turcotte, Aberdeen welterweight, won from Johnny Foster, Vancouver, in four rounds. Katsuku Morioke, Vancouver bantamweight, knocked out Joe Albano, Seattle, in two rounds.

Tacoma, Wash., May 5.—Fred Lenhart of Tacoma knocked out Dick Evans, Youngstown, Ohio, light heavyweight, in the first round of the scheduled six-round main event here yesterday evening. A hard left hook sent Evans to the mat for a nine count and a moment after he arose Lenhart connected with a right to the chin that knocked Evans down for the full count. Evans weighed 169½ pounds and Lenhart 177.

Ted Gsch, Fort Lewis welterweight, won a decision over Miles Murphy, Triest-Indian, from Alaska, in six rounds, scoring four knockdowns during the course of the encounter.

Dallas, Texas, May 5.—Joe Rice, Fort Worth heavyweight, earned a split decision over 205-pound Jack Van, Nor of Oakland, Calif., yesterday evening in a torrid ten-round battle. There was no knockdown.

missed a set up. Butcher let go a long shot but missed. Joe Ross charged Goldman and Goldman dropped in a foul shot to bring the Alumni within two points of the Ribbons with the score at 7 to 5.

Art Chapman boosted the local lead with a smart one-hand shot from close in on a pass from Muzz Patrick. Chuck Chapman failed to convert a foul against Goldman and Ross missed a shot.

Art Chapman made the count 12 to 8 for Victoria when he took a pass from Lynn Patrick, dribbled in to score and then dropped through a free shot against Goldman. Stewart went in to relieve Goldman.

Victoria went up another two points when Art Chapman dropped in a long shot from the short court after taking a pass from Lynn Patrick.

Aitchison brought the Alumni to within a long shot, and Dawson, trying Ribbons through the evening, almost succeeded in dropping one through.

RIBBONS RUN IN TAILIES

Chuck Chapman looped, through a lovely lay up and Muzz Patrick scored two field goals from way out to run the Victoria lead up to 30 to 7. Meretky came in for Stewart after Patrick's first basket, and Archie Stewart replaced King. Dawson missed a long shot. Aitchison fouled Art Chapman and Art failed to convert before Aitchison secured to try a long shot.

The Windsor boys came up on a short rally. Meretky scored two fouls against Chuck Chapman and then gained another two points when Chuck Chapman interfered with the basket on his shot.

Dawson fouled Muzz Patrick and Muzz ran the score up to 21 to 11 at half time.

COLLECTED PERSONALS

Art Chapman had three personals called against him in the first half. Little drew two and Chuck Chapman, Muzz Patrick and Joe Ross one apiece. Dawson and Goldman had two apiece.

Archie Stewart jumped at centre and fell back to guard for the Alumni as they entered the second half.

Butcher, Meretky and Aitchison playing forward and Dawson back on defence.

Joe Ross stayed in at guard with Chuck Chapman, with Art Chapman at centre and Muzz and Lynn Patrick forwards for Victoria.

Art Chapman rimmed the hoop and Muzz Patrick missed the hoop and Muzz Patrick missed the hoop and Muzz Patrick missed the hoop.

Muzz Patrick missed a long shot just before the substituted Joe Ross came in. He was little leading scorer for the Ribbons, standing up like a veteran under fire, and was never off the floor for a single minute. Altogether it was a spectacular display for a boy of his years.

Now for a touch of sentiment. Lester Patrick is an old warrior in the sporting game and has seen scores of championships won and lost, but his interest in this particular game was of deeper import. Lester stood up in the west-side box of the hall as the crowd surged on the floor after the final gun. He watched with something akin to a wistful smile as the exuberant fans lifted young Murray high on their shoulders and marched him around the floor. It was a look of father's pride all right. And Mrs. Patrick shared the triumph of her boys along with their father, their grandmother, who just had to see the boys play, and other relatives.

And perhaps Lester called to mind some of the title battles he has been in himself, both as an amateur and professional, and he knew the strain his boys were under.

In the true and cry which followed the finish, the Ribbons were the least excited. In their faces was written the story of the games, the strain and the effort of playing at top pitch until the last gun. Their expressions were those of men who have been through an ordeal of some kind. But it took only a few minutes for the boys to wear off the last vestige of the strain. The street scene behind the arena, which was almost like a fair, for they were masquerading, Jack Barnwell, to sleep in their way into Victoria's heart.

If the fans could have taken their eyes off the game for a few seconds, it was an amusing sight up in the broad-casting box where Bud Hocking was sending the game over the air. Next to him was Jack Taylor, president of the Victoria and District Basketball Association, who was pinch-hitting for Bud in the intervals. Jack had his hat laid back on the nape of his neck and was chewing gum so hard that every time the Ribbons scored he nearly bit his tongue off. At the end of the game he looked like a wreck, as did most of the onlookers.

The score was: Victoria, 30-7; Ribbons, 21-11. The game was refereed by Lester Patrick.

One man in town is glad the series has ended. He is J. A. Barnwell, sponsor of the Blue Ribbons. He lost fourteen pounds during the last two weeks, what with looking after teams, handling the finances, making arrangements and listening to the demands of fans for tickets.

He announced this morning that the financial obligations of the two series between Blue Ribbons and their rivals, Raymond Jacks and

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Nickols Win Angler's Button With 32-Pound Salmon

The first of the Victoria-Saanich Angler's Association's silver buttons to be awarded this year will go to Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Mr. and Mrs. Nickols were out with Bob Stacey for the afternoon, and besides their prize-winning catch, also returned with a nineteen and half-pound fish.

Mr. and Mrs. Nickols came to Victoria from New York about two and a half weeks ago. Entertained anglers, their first concern was the taking out of membership in the Angler's Association, and since that date they have been out regularly.

According to Mr. Stacey, fishermen are having success at Brentwood these days, and practically every boat which goes out is returning with a good catch.

Following are the teams: Mayer and Fevra, of San Francisco; Conyers and Converse, of Portland; Hopping and Gregg, of Oakland; Tommy and Sikol, of San Francisco; Zell and partner, of Spokane; Jarvis and Sheets, of Spokane; Padish and Vitalech, of Tacoma; and Ferguson and Chomes, of Vancouver and Seattle, respectively.

Lone Single Robs Si Johnson, Reds, Of Perfect Game

But Cincinnati Beats Boston 4 to 0; Gomez Gives Two Hits as Yanks Win

Cards Put on Rally To Improve Position

Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox Jump Up to Second in American

By Hugh S. Fullerton Jr.

Si Johnson, sturdy right-hander of Cincinnati Reds, missed a perfect game by the margin of one single in beating Boston Braves, 4 to 0, and Vernon Gomez, New York Yankees' lean left-hander, gave up only two blows in a 5 to 2 victory over Detroit.

The Reds went into fifth place tie with Brooklyn Dodgers, who were knocked down from third by a 2 to 1 ten-inning defeat at Pittsburgh's hands.

The defeat was about as painful for Watson Clark, Brooklyn southpaw, as the loss of the no-hit game was for Johnson and Gomez. Leading 1 to 0 going into the eighth, Floyd Vaughan's triple started Tony Piet's single tied the score. In the tenth Piet singled and Hal Pinney doubled him in.

St. Louis Cardinals gained a tie for third with Boston by putting on a five-run rally against John Berry in the fifth to defeat the Phillies, 5 to 2. The Giants shattered a three-game losing streak by winning both games of a doubleheader from Chicago, 2 to 1 and 4 to 4.

Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox, running in tandem, moved up to second in the American League, passing Washington Senators. Cleveland came from behind to defeat Washington in the ninth, 6 to 5, while the pale horse won a 2 to 1 victory over Philadelphia Athletics as Sam Jones pitched five-hit ball.

Cold weather at St. Louis kept the Browns and the Boston Red Sox inactive.

Canadian Bug Wins Opening Roach Derby

Cockroach Canters to Ten-length Victory in New York Twelve-foot Feature

By Don Gilbert

Canadian Press Staff Writer

New York, May 5.—A nimble-limbed cockroach who had never undergone the indignity of having to root through a kitchen for his food, yesterday evening won Manhattan's first roach derby.

And best of all, from a Canadian point of view, the winner was the very roach named Sir Barton, after the famous Canadian race horse, because of the fact a representative of Canadian newspapers was on hand to view the big race.

Sir Barton made a "Holy Show" of the field put up against him in the derby, staged in the Nut Club in Greenwich Village Grove, for the edification of otherwise, of some 300 guests, a flock of newsmen and women and a handful of cartoonists.

It was no hollow victory. Over the grooved track of some twelve feet Sir Barton cantered to win by ten open lengths. He scarcely had turned a hair—if roaches have hairs.

ITALIAN TENNIS TEAM VICTORIOUS

Florence, Italy, May 5.—Italy's Davis Cup team yesterday took a commanding lead in its first round match with Yugoslavia, winning the first—two singles matches of the international tennis competition.

Humberto de Morpurgo defeated Franjo Puncer, 6-4, 6-0, 3-6, 7-5. Giorgio Stenfi took the measure of Franjo Kukuljevic, 6-4, 6-0, 3-6, 7-5.

OREGON RACING MEET PLANNED

Portland, Ore., May 5.—Forty days of horse racing at the Multnomah County Fair Association track at Gresham, the first legalized horse racing in Oregon in thirty-seven years, was virtually assured yesterday when the Oregon State Racing Commission agreed to award a permit to John Jerome, San Francisco sports promoter. The contract, which the commission said it would give next week, will call for two twenty-day sessions.

Portland Team Captures Northwestern Bowling Honors

Aircrafts Scatter 2,932 Pins To Win Team Championship

Gillam Leads Rose City Squad To Victory With Fine String of 659

Victoria Has One Team in Money

Les Fox, Times Bowler, Takes Lead in Singles

With a score of 2,932, Aircrafts of Portland, were crowned five-men champions for 1933 in the Northwestern International Bowling Congress yesterday evening. La Salle Recreation of Vancouver were second, with 2,850, and Ebonites, San Francisco, third, with 2,847.

Of the fourteen teams in the money, Victoria had one squad, the Jokers, in the eleventh slot with 2,790. Aircrafts took the alley in the first part of the evening and shot a huge second game of 1,067 to clinch the title. Their first and third games were 946 and 919. J. Gillam, the lead-off man, shot 659, including 247 in his second. The others rolled as follows: G. Votaw, 554; J. Eldon, 535; A. Wegert, 505; T. Perry, 589.

La Salle rolled strong on the last end of the tournament, but failed by eighty pins to catch the leaders. Ferguson rolled 255 in the final string for La Salle, which tied R. Wilson of Victoria for high single of the congress. He had 624 for the three-game string. Singles, doubles and all-event champions will be named this evening as the last balls are rolled in the congress. Tomorrow will be given over to women's play and scrapbooks.

Victoria and Vancouver men rolled yesterday in the singles and doubles. Les Fox, Victoria Times, went into first place in the singles with 661 and in the all-events with 1,896. His total has been high enough to win in other congresses. Jack Howell and Royce MacKenzie of the Imperial Oil Squad, Victoria, shot 1,220 to lead the doubles to date.

Ron Wilson, Jokers, piled up a nine-timer on top of a split to shoot 255 in the second game of his doubles. This is in line for the special prize for high single game.

WINDSOR WINS JUNIOR CROWN

APPLEBY WINS CUE LAURELS

Clinches World's Amateur 18.1 Balk Line Championship

New York, May 5.—Edgar T. Appleby of New York clinched the world's amateur 18.1 balk line billiards championship yesterday.

The New Yorker, international 18.1 balk line titleholder eleven years ago, automatically won the 18.1 crown when his closest rival, Theodore Moons of Belgium, was beaten by Jean Albert of France. It was Moons' second defeat in six starts and made it impossible for him to tie Appleby for the title even should he beat the New Yorker in the final match.

Appleby has won five successive victories without defeat in the Round Robin tournament in which Albert Moons of Egypt, Jean Swearing of Holland, Francis S. Appleby and Seymour Kling of New York are the other contestants.

Line-ups follow:
Albion—N. F. Pite, captain; W. H. Penderay, W. H. H. Walton, V. G. Coe's entries, Charley O. drew second position, Fingal third and Good Advice fourth. Ladyman was seventh and Head Play eleventh from the rail.

Five C's—Atwell, Laird, P. C. Payne.

At Beacon Hill W. Sutton will umpire and Jesse Longfield will be scorer.

Four Games Will Be Played on Local Pitches; Personnel Little Changed

SIX TEAMS WILL PLAY IN LEAGUE

Young Players Will Be Given Practice Matches With Seniors

The 1933 season of the Victoria and District Cricket Association will get under way to-morrow afternoon at 2.15 o'clock with four friendly matches scheduled on local pitches. The league will officially open next Saturday.

To-morrow's games will bring into action six teams, all of which were entered last year, with few changes in personnel. Two junior teams will also play. Wanderers and Victoria City, last year's joint champions, will be out in full force, being matched with the Colts and Shawigan Lake School, respectively. The first game will be played at Work Point grounds, and the other at Reynolds Road.

The other two matches will bring together the Incops and University School, at the Mount Tominie grounds, and the

YOUR FLOWER GARDEN

By DR. WM. A. TYLOR

Some of the common garden flowers do not transplant readily and should be sown where they are to bloom. Poppies, lupines, nasturtiums, Drummond phlox, California poppy, castor bean, portulaca and four o'clocks are examples.

Most of the annuals benefit by special care in the seedbed. If they must be transplanted, most plants seem to benefit by being transplanted before roots and tops begin to crowd, and transplanting makes more certain the spacing of the plants in the final arrangement and the development of the garden picture according to plan.

Many gardeners, however, prefer to plant most of the flowers where they are to grow. Some waste of seed, and some disappointments caused by failures are almost inevitable, but a good gardener recovers these losses by good management in preparing to plant, by care in planting and after planting, and by planting a reserve.

"One way to check crust formation is to spread narrow strips of burrap over the rows."

Hardy seeds may be planted as soon as the soil can be worked.

HALF-AND-HALF PLAN
For safety with this class it is not a bad plan to divide the seed and sow half early and half ten days later in rows two inches from the first. If the first survive, hoe out or transplant the second lot. If frost nips the first seeding, the second is likely to be safe.

In any soil, thorough raking and pulverization of the soil before planting will help the seeds to a good start. If the soil tends to cake the seedlings will have difficulty in pushing through the crust. One way to check crust formation is to spread narrow strips of burrap over the rows. Maintaining this every day or two will check crusts.

Another method is to plant a radish seed or two every few inches in the row. These seeds sprout quickly and will mark the row making it possible to cultivate and break the crust before the slower starting seeds get to the surface.

CAKELESS SOIL
Perhaps the best way to avoid this trouble is to supply the soil with special soil composed of equal parts of fine sand and some humus material—leaf-mold, old compost, the like. Then mark the rows for planting and, with a hoe, clear a small triangular furrow two inches wide. Pack into this the special soil mixture and plant the seeds according to directions.

Often it happens that the gardener gets too good a germination and seedlings crowd each other in the row. Judicious thinning is as necessary as judicious planning. The first thinning should come soon after the plants develop true leaves, and the gardener may leave in the row perhaps four times as many plants as he will have finally. A second thinning will leave the thickest and most vigorous half of the plants, and a third thinning will reduce the plants to the number that will give the best final effect.

Wasp Waists Coming Back

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times—London—Small waists, almost the "wasp" waists of 1880, are coming back. "The real 'wasp' waist is only eighteen inches around, while most waists today average between twenty-four and twenty-nine inches. The fashion of short jackets and belts is leading women to smaller waists.

Another revival from the past is the hobble skirt. Skirts are being worn on the cross, or pleated, but the fullness disappears below the knee. They are only possible for the very thin, and as yet are lacking in popularity.

Then there is the "Homburg" hat, that old-timer that looks somewhat like a man's felt hat, with the brim dipping down at the front. It has been reintroduced for spring.

Gas in the Stomach Is Dangerous

Daily Use of Bismarck Magnesia Overcomes Troubles Caused By Acid Indigestion

Gas in the stomach accompanied by a full, bloated feeling after eating is almost certain evidence of too much hydrochloric acid in the stomach, causing so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous. Too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leads to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to try to treat it with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach's acidity. Instead, use a little Bismarck Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in water right after eating. This will drive out the gas, wind and bloating, soothe the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and stop sourness, gas or pain. Bismarck Magnesia (in powder form—never in liquid or milk) is harmless, inexpensive, and a fine remedy for acid stomach. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no fear of indigestion. (Advt.)
